I.U. Projects Given $8,000 In CIA Funds

STAR STATE REPORT

Bloomington, Ind. — Indiana University received about $8,000 from the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) in the late 1950s and early 1960s.

The figure was a response by the CIA to I.U.'s request for more information about CIA research funds spent at the university.

The CIA said that two research projects were funded at I.U. — a study of children's conceptions of occupational roles and status, with a grant of about $6,000, and library searches, consultation, translations and transcription services, for which the CIA paid about $2,000.

"Although I am pleased to find that I.U.'s involvement in the CIA program was small and relatively harmless, I remain deeply disturbed by the agency's questionable ways of conducting and financing research," I.U. Bloomington Vice-President Robert M. O'Neil, said.
